

EDI GUIDE FOR Applied Systems USERS

Now you have been switched on

Please use your EDI capability whenever possible. Sabre does not accept manual business from Agents with EDI Systems, unless there are exceptional circumstances, for example: - a refer case which cannot be quoted on your system.

Submission

Please be aware that Insurers need to adhere to strict timescales for submission of data in order to meet targets set by the MIIC for the Motor Insurers Database. Whilst Insurecom are responsible for the transit of data from your system to Sabre, if you are aware of any problem with your software that may result in a delay in sending business to Sabre, please inform us. You can also assist us in meeting MID requirements by ensuring that any adjustments or cancellations are submitted without delay.

Storage of Documentation

You must keep the new business proposal form, a copy of the original quotation, cover note(s) if issued, NCD proof, copy of driving licence and any other relevant documentation. The use of optical disk or other storage media is usually acceptable to us, but prior agreement must be sought before any documentation is destroyed.

The documentation must be kept available for audit purposes. All papers must be kept for at least two years after the policy has been cancelled/lapsed.

Access to Documentation

Access to documentation must be available to us, or an authorised third party for audit purposes whenever required.

There may be instances where we require the original new business documentation to be submitted to our office or handed to an authorised third party. Any requested papers must be readily available.
